TOPIC FOR TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 26, 2019:

How do I know what information is accurate regarding the new regional medical center? There’s a lot of contradictory information and what-appears-to-be rumors, particularly on social media.

The primary source for information about the new Mohawk Valley Health System (MVHS) Regional Medical Center should be MVHS. We are committed to transparency and sharing all the facts related to the new medical center. Here are the ways you can learn the facts or ask questions about the regional medical center:

- Just the Facts, this publication, is published every Tuesday to share “the facts” and the latest information about the new regional medical center. We have covered a variety of topics – from funding and financing to the new medical center’s numerous benefits for patients and families. This newsletter is distributed via email to employees, volunteers, members of the Medical Staff and Board of Directors, and community members. It is also sent out through social media and is housed on the MVHS website. You can find the most recent edition and back issues here.

- Darlene’s Digest, a weekly update from the MVHS president and CEO, is published every Friday. This update includes information about the health system’s services, people, innovation and events. It also includes a weekly update on the new regional medical center and a “rumor control” section, which debunks rumors that are primarily about the new regional medical center. It is distributed in the same manner as Just the Facts.

- MVHS Downtown Blog, which is published weekly on the MVHS website. You can read it here. While it doesn’t always necessarily relate to construction of the new regional medical center, it is a great source of health-related information.

- Local news media. Local television, radio and newspapers have had continuous coverage about the building of the new regional medical center. They have also been on top of sharing important information, such as road closures with our community.

- Updates on construction are also available on the MVHS website. You can find them here. This site provides up-to-date information about any road impacts and other construction-related issues.

- Social media posts about the new regional medical center are done on a regular basis; check out the MVHS Facebook, LinkedIn, Instagram and Twitter feeds.

And, of course, you can always email us at community@mvhealthsystem.org with your questions or concerns.

We have also added a new feature to the MVHS website – a pop-up that asks you if you have any questions about the new medical center. Here’s what it looks like:

!Pop-up asking if you have any questions about the new hospital

If you have other ideas of how we can share information about the new regional medical center, please let us know!